A HANDY GUIDE FOR FOSTER PARENTS
EASTERN REGION
We know the child welfare system can be a bit complex, and we are eager to help you navigate the sea of agencies and acronyms, positions and people.

This handbook will help you:

Understand who does what, and the structure of the child welfare system in Utah

Know how to access various resources and supports available to you

Access contact names, numbers, and e-mails to those who can assist you

Thank you for becoming licensed and for your willingness to help children in need.

thank you!
So who does what in child welfare?

As a foster parent, you’ll interact with three different agencies. Services for foster families in each of these agencies is organized by region. You live in the Eastern Region, composed of Carbon, Daggett, Duchesne, Emery, Grand, and San Juan counties.

UTAH FOSTER CARE (UFC)

That’s us! We’re a private, nonprofit agency responsible for finding, training, and nurturing the foster families who serve Utah’s children in foster care. We have a contract with the State to provide these services—including ongoing support for licensed foster families, outlined in this reference guide.

Each UFC regional office has staff responsible for: recruitment, education, and retention — Foster-Adoptive Consultants shepherd prospective families through the process of becoming licensed; trainers educate prospective and current families; and retention specialists work closely with families, and have answers to questions about special funding resources, appreciation events, Cluster Support Group meetings, Facebook Groups, and the Foster Roster.

UTAH STATE OFFICE OF LICENSING (OL)

This State agency is responsible for processing your paperwork, conducting a homestudy, issuing your initial foster parent license, and renewing that license each year.

UTAH DIVISION OF CHILD & FAMILY SERVICES (DCFS)

This State agency is responsible for protecting children from abuse, neglect, or dependency. It places children with foster families and oversees their care. Part of that oversight includes a wide range of services (many of which we discuss in this guide).

DCFS works with a child’s biological parents to address the problems which warranted their removal, so the child may safely return home (reunification). Depending on whether your placement is a child you know or not, you’ll be assigned either a Kinship Family Consultant or Resource Family Consultant (in some parts of the state one person might fill both roles). You’ll also work closely with your child’s DCFS caseworker. Finally, DCFS has specialists can help you transition older youth to adult living and assist you through the adoption process.

Word to the wise: DCFS refers to foster/adoptive parents as “resource families” and those families who care for children they already knew as “kinship families.” You’ll see this in forms and hear it from caseworkers.

How do I stay in the know?

FOSTER ROSTER

The Foster Roster is a bi-monthly magazine for foster/adoptive families and is published by Utah Foster Care. Licensed families receive it in the mail and it’s available online: utahfostercare.org/fosterroster.

The Roster contains important, time-sensitive information about upcoming trainings, events, available donations, policy changes, relicensing requirements, opportunities for children in care, and a variety of helpful articles. You’ll also find regional contact names and numbers. If you’re not receiving the Foster Roster, please call us at 1 (877) 505-5437.

WEBSITE

Our site, utahfostercare.org, contains a wealth of information. Most of what you’ll use is located in the Foster Parent Resources section, which can be accessed from the “Foster Parent Resources” link at the top of the site. Here, you’ll find upcoming events, relicensing requirements, digital copies of the Foster Roster, Wishing Well and Giving Tree request forms (explained on page 9), links to other agencies, and contact information for local UFC staff who are happy to answer any questions.

Webinars of both pre-service and in-service classes are available at any time for review and assistance: utahfostercare.org/webinars.

Take a few minutes to explore all the ways Utah Foster Care can help support you in your role as foster parent.

UFC RETENTION SPECIALIST

Once you’re licensed, get to know your UFC Foster Family Retention Specialist (see page 6). They’re your best guide to accessing all kinds of Utah Foster Care support opportunities found in this guide.
OKAY, I’M LICENSED. NOW WHAT?!

The best way to advocate for your child in foster care is to become knowledgeable. Resources outlined below are available to help you stay informed, proactive, and connected to support systems for you and the kids in care.

GET INVOLVED: YOUR LOCAL CLUSTER SUPPORT GROUP

One of the first things you should do is to join your local Cluster Support Group for foster parents (your Retention Specialist can show you how). Your Cluster Support Group will empower you as a parent by providing both educational and social support. Most Cluster Support Groups meet monthly, usually offering a training that helps you develop the skills necessary to understand and parent children who have experienced trauma and abuse. These in-service trainings help you meet the requirements to renew your license annually (see below).

Clusters are also an informal network for seeking respite care providers, listening ears, and advice on a host of issues. Moreover, meetings are a good time to get to know DCFS and UFC staff. Finally, donations from the community are frequently distributed during Cluster meetings.

STAY CONNECTED: FACEBOOK GROUP

Once you’re licensed, request to join your regional Facebook Group by emailing Kobi kobi.prettyman@utahfostercare.org. You’ll be invited to join once your license is verified. These groups are a great way to receive reminders about trainings, special events, and recent donations; they also serve as a vital link to other licensed families in your area.

KEEP CURRENT: TRAINING

Foster parents are relicensed on an annual basis. To meet minimum training standards, foster parents need to complete 16 hours of approved courses, annually. If there are two caregivers in the household, the 16 hours is the total number of in-service training hours required for both caregivers combined — with neither caregiver having fewer than four hours.

Any training offered through your Cluster Support Group, Utah Foster Care, or DCFS, is automatically approved. Other training offered through work, school, or community sources may be approved in advance by your DCFS-assigned Resource Family Consultant (RFC).

Webinars: You can earn up to four hours of in-service credit by watching short training videos on a variety of topics at utahfostercare.org/webinars.

Annual Symposium: Every spring, UFC hosts a conference - look in the Foster Roster and on Facebook for details. Foster/adoptive parents can attend for a minimal fee and hear nationally renowned speakers in the field of child welfare.

CPR Training: Each foster parent is required by the State Office of Licensing to have current CPR/first-aid training. CPR classes may be accessed online.

RSVP/Register: You will be notified of any changes or cancellations in Cluster Support Group trainings ONLY if you register by confirming on Facebook or by calling the trainer. It also helps us order enough food, since most Cluster Support Group meetings include refreshments.

Don’t Let it Lapse: It’s much easier to renew a license than to have it lapse and need to go through the process of becoming relicensed. Lapsed licenses have real consequences: Medicaid cards and state payments can only be sent to licensed providers and children can only remain in licensed homes. A lapsed license means stress and trouble for everyone — especially the child.

BECOME KNOWLEDGEABLE

The Adoption Exchange offers a free lending library, featuring children’s books, titles about drug exposure, grief and trauma healing, mental illness, parenting advice, sexual abuse, and special-needs adoption.

You can check out up to three titles at a time by mail and keep them for up to 6 weeks. Return postage will be included with your order. To check out selections or place an order, call (801) 265-0444, or visit utahadopt.org.

HAVE FUN TOGETHER: FAMILY EVENTS

Appreciation events offer families a great way to get out, have fun together, and get to know other licensed families. Swim parties, skate parties, BBQs, bowling nights, and getting lost in a corn maze are just a few of the free activities that are organized through your Cluster Support Group.

Local and statewide events occur throughout the year, so watch your Facebook Group and Foster Roster for the next one in your area.
Online CPR courses are acceptable and you can take a totally free course at the following website http://www.firstaidforfree.com.

If you use this site, please take the “Basic First Aid” AND “CPR” courses. They are separate courses and you will need each one to get licensed. Once you are done with your training and you download your certificates, send a copy to your licensor.

Check it out; you will be glad you did. If you don’t like this site, you may choose another site, just know that some will have a small fee.

Proof of Immunizations

Each person living in the home will need to verify they are current on their immunizations. The Office of Licensing (OL) requires the following vaccinations for adults: Tdap, MMR, Hep A, Hep B, and Varicella (if you have had Chicken pox you will not need this one, just let your licensor know you have already had chicken pox). If you cannot find the verification forms for all members (kids are easy, the adults tend to have a hard time finding them) or if you simply choose to not be vaccinated, don’t worry, you have options.

The options available to you and your family are as follows:

1. Your doctor can do a blood test to check for some of them but you may have to get others redone. They can either check the box on the application form that says you are compliant OR they can submit a letter stating the same.

2. You could also choose to simply get all of the required vaccinations redone and then submit the current shot record or verification letter reflecting the re-administration of the required vaccinations as noted above.

3. The final option is to not get re-vaccinated or provide proof of the vaccinations- however doing so will limit you from taking un-immunized children AND babies under 2 months old until OL gets documentation.

Teens!

We talk a lot about teens, here at Utah Foster Care — and with good reason. For one, half of all children in care are over the age of 10, so we’re eager to find families willing to open their hearts to older children. Also, teens in care are literally running out of time — time to find a permanent family and to receive the love and support they need to thrive as adults.

Of course, with added urgency, there are added supports. The State, in fact, has an entire website dedicated to state supports for teens: justforyouth.utah.gov

WHAT ARE SOME OF THESE SUPPORTS?

Medical and adoption resources: There are health services, post adoption subsidies, and post-secondary education grants available. Medicaid covers medical, dental and mental health services to age 18 (with some children qualifying for extended coverage) and an adoption subsidy may be available, based upon the youth’s needs.

Education and employment: Federal Pell grants are available to pay college tuition and other expenses. Youth may apply for the Olene S. Walker Transition to Adult Living Scholarship (up to $5,000 for degree or certificate programs), Education Training Vouchers (ETV), and other grants at [justfor youth.utah.gov](http://justfor youth.utah.gov). Youths aged 16–25 can complete their GED requirement and receive job training at Utah Job Corps.

What reimbursements and resources are available?

In addition to your monthly stipend, there are funds available through both the State (via DCFS) and Utah Foster Care (UFC). Supplemental DCFS funds are contingent on funding from the legislature and are summarized in the adjoining chart. UFC funds are made available through private donations.

STATE OF UTAH

DCFS funding is requested through your caseworker or Resource Family Consultant (RFC). Receipts may be required for reimbursement. Copies of receipts are to be turned in with payment form. Original receipts are to remain in the home-to-home book.

A word about mileage: Routine trips are not covered (for example travel to the store, shopping center, a friend’s house, school, or to recreational activities). If transporting more than one child at the same time, mileage can only be submitted for one child. You must document all reimbursable mileage claims on the appropriate Child & Family Services form that includes odometer readings, purpose of travel, and destination.

Mileage claims are submitted monthly for reimbursement. All mileage claims and receipts must have a one-time payment form from DCFS submitted with them. These forms can be located online: dcfs.utah.gov/forms or from your caseworker.

UTAH FOSTER CARE

Access all UFC funding online, in your region’s section under “Resources” (utahfostercare.org/resources) or through your UFC Retention Services Specialist, as identified on page 6.

Wishing Well: Private donors contribute to this fund, allowing children in foster care to participate in common childhood activities, or purchase needed items not covered under state funding. If special needs funds through DCFS have been used or are not available, you, your caseworker or the RFC may request up to $300 per child annually through the form on our web site. Wishing Well funds may be used to provide music, dance or karate lessons, vacation expenses, team fees and equipment, or any number of other great childhood activities. Teens may be interested in purchasing contacts, school rings, yearbooks or formal wear for prom.

Vacation requests are limited to $150.

Clothes for Kids: These funds can be accessed any time of year to help you provide needed clothing, outerwear and footwear for your child in care. CFK funds can be accessed once a year and are limited to $100 per child ages 0–11, and $200 for children ages 12–18. Receipts must be submitted for reimbursement to your UFC Retention Services Specialist. This is program is exclusive to Eastern region.

OTHER HELPS & RESOURCES

Donations: Books, blankets, quilts, school supplies, and backpacks are some of the donations that have been made available to kids in care from the community. When available, donated items are distributed during Cluster meetings or appreciation events, and through the Resource Centers described below. Notices may also be posted on the regional Facebook Group or in the Foster Roster.

Holiday Help: Generous donors and community service groups aid UFC staff in providing gifts and needed items for kids in care during the holiday season. Watch your Facebook Group or personal mail in the fall for details.

Resource Sheds: Storage units are located throughout the state and stock donated clothing and household items for licensed families. They are run by foster parent volunteers and have set operation days. Appointments can be made in advance if you are traveling in from out of the area.

Families may search through donations and take whatever they can use. For a list of resource sheds please see page 8.
