thank you!

We know the child welfare system can be complex, and we're here to help you navigate the agencies, acronyms, positions, and people involved. This handbook will help you:

- Understand who does what and the structure of the child welfare system in Utah
- Know how to access various resources and supports available to you
- Access contact names, numbers, and emails for those who can assist you

Thank you for becoming licensed and for your willingness to help children in need.

STAYING CONNECTED

FOSTER ROSTER

The Foster Roster is a bi-monthly magazine for foster and adoptive families, published by Utah Foster Care. Licensed families receive it in the mail, and it's available online at utahfostercare.org/fosterroster.

The Roster contains important, time-sensitive information about upcoming trainings, events, available donations, policy changes, relicensing requirements, opportunities for children in care, and helpful articles. You'll also find regional contact names and numbers.

If you're not receiving the Foster Roster, you may have unknowingly unsubscribed. Contact your regional retention specialist to be added back to our mailing list.

WEBSITE

Our website, utahfostercare.org, contains a wealth of information. Most of what you'll use is in the Foster Parent Resources section, accessible from the "Foster Parent Resources" link at the top of the site. Here you'll find upcoming events, relicensing requirements, digital copies of the Foster Roster, Wishing Well and Giving Tree request forms, links to other agencies, and contact information for local UFC staff who are happy to answer any questions.

Webinars of pre-service and in-service classes are available anytime for review. Reach out to your local retention specialist to gain access to the training portal.

UTAH FOSTER CARE'S RETENTION SPECIALIST

Once you're licensed, get to know your UFC Foster Family Retention Specialist (see contact information on page 6). They're your best guide to accessing all kinds of Utah Foster Care support opportunities found in this guide.

WELCOME TO THE SOUTHWEST REGION

As a foster parent, you'll interact with three different agencies. Services for foster families in each agency are organized by region. You live in the Southwest Region, composed of Beaver, Garfield, Iron, Kane, Paiute, San Pete, Sevier, Washington & Wayne counties.

UNDERSTANDING THE CHILD WELFARE SYSTEM

UTAH FOSTER CARE

That's us! We're a private, nonprofit (501c3) agency responsible for finding, training, and nurturing the foster families who serve Utah's children in foster care. We have a contract with the State to provide these services, including ongoing support for licensed foster families outlined in this reference guide.

Each Utah Foster Care regional office has staff responsible for recruitment, education, and retention. Foster-Adoptive Consultants shepherd prospective families through the licensing process; trainers educate prospective and current families; and retention specialists work closely with families, answering questions about special funding resources, appreciation events, Cluster Support Group meetings, Facebook groups, and the Foster Roster.

UTAH DIVISION OF LICENSING AND BACKGROUND CHECK (DLBC)

This State agency is responsible for processing your paperwork, conducting a home study, issuing your initial foster parent license, and renewing that license each year. dlbc.utah.gov/home/office-of-licensing/human-services/foster-care-licenses/

UTAH DEPARTMENT OF HEALTH AND HUMAN SERVICES

DIVISION OF CHILD & FAMILY SERVICES (DCFS)

This State agency is responsible for protecting children from abuse, neglect, or dependency. It places children with foster families and oversees their care, including providing a wide range of services.

DCFS works with a child's biological parents to address the problems that warranted removal, so the child may safely return home (reunification). Depending on whether your placement is a child you know or not, you'll be assigned either a Kinship Family Consultant or Resource Family Consultant (in some areas, one person might fill both roles). You'll also work closely with your child's DCFS caseworker. DCFS has specialists who can help transition older youth to adult living and assist you through the adoption process. dcfs.utah.gov/

Note: DCFS refers to foster/adoptive parents as "resource families" and families who care for children they already knew as "kinship families." You'll see this terminology in forms and hear it from caseworkers.

RESOURCES FOR FOSTER PARENTS

The best way to advocate for your child in foster care is to become knowledgeable. The resources below are available to help you stay informed, proactive, and connected to support systems for you and the kids in care.

GET INVOLVED: YOUR LOCAL CLUSTER SUPPORT GROUP

One of the first things you should do is join your local Cluster Support Group for foster parents (your Retention Specialist can show you how). Your group is assigned based on where you live and will help empower you by providing both educational and social support.

Most groups meet monthly, offering training that helps you develop skills necessary to understand and parent children who have experienced trauma and abuse. You can attend any cluster regardless of the one you're assigned to. These in-service trainings help you meet the requirements to renew your license annually.

Clusters are also an informal network for seeking respite care providers, listening ears, and advice on various issues. Meetings are a good time to get to know DCFS and UFC staff. Community donations are frequently distributed during Cluster meetings. You can find your cluster here: utahfostercare.org/foster-parent-resources/support-groups/

STAY CONNECTED: FACEBOOK

Once you're licensed, request to join your regional Facebook group by emailing Bethany Ross at Bethany.ross@utahfostercare.org. You'll be invited once your license is verified. These groups are a great way to receive reminders about trainings, special events, and recent donations, and they serve as a vital link to other licensed families in your area.

TRAINING REQUIREMENTS

Foster parents are relicensed annually. To meet minimum training standards, foster parents need to complete 16 hours of approved courses annually. If there are two caregivers in the household, 16 hours is the total required for both caregivers combined, with neither having fewer than 4 hours. Single providers are required to complete 12 hours.

Required breakdown: A minimum of 4 hours in-person, 3 hours on prerecorded trainings, books, or movies. The remainder may be live in-person or virtual trainings.

Any training offered through your Cluster Support Group, Utah Foster Care, or DCFS is automatically approved. Other training offered through work, school, or community sources may be approved in advance by your DCFS-assigned Resource Family Consultant.

TRAINING PORTAL

You can earn up to 3 hours of in-service credit by watching short training videos on various topics in our training portal. This is also where you register and RSVP to classes. Visit ufctraining.talentlms.com to access the portal. This is also where you send information in receive credit for attending in service also.

ANNUAL SYMPOSIUM

Each year, UFC hosts a conference featuring local and nationally renowned speakers in child welfare. Foster and adoptive parents can attend for a minimal fee. Look in the Foster Roster and on Facebook for details. utahfostercare.org/training-for-parents/annual-symposium/

CPR TRAINING

Each foster parent is required by DLBC to have current CPR/first-aid training. Online CPR courses are acceptable, and you can take a free course at utahfostercare.org/cpr. If you prefer another site, that's fine—some may charge a small fee.

RSVP/REGISTER

You will be notified of changes or cancellations in Cluster Support Group trainings only if you register by confirming on the training portal or by calling the trainer. <https://ufctraining.talentlms.com/index>

DON'T LET IT LAPSE!

It's much easier to renew a license than to have it lapse and need to go through relicensing. Lapsed licenses have real consequences: Medicaid cards and state payments can only be sent to licensed providers, and children can only remain in licensed homes. A lapsed license means stress and trouble for everyone—especially the child.

ADDITIONAL SUPPORT SERVICES

CLINICAL SERVICES

Foster parents open their homes to children who need connections with caring adults. When children return home following placement, foster parents can experience a multitude of feelings—sadness, anger, hurt, loneliness, and more. Additionally, the stressors of caring for children with difficult emotions and behaviors can become overwhelming.

Utah Foster Care offers clinical intervention, both individual and group services, to help foster parents with these demands. Each region has a clinical staff member to provide services as needed, with regularly scheduled support groups held monthly. Request clinical services at utahfostercare.org/clinical-services

MENTORING PROGRAM

A foster parent mentor is an experienced foster parent who provides guidance, support, and advice to those new to fostering. They act as a trusted resource, helping new or less experienced foster parents navigate the complexities of fostering children.

Mentors share knowledge about working with child welfare agencies, dealing with emotional challenges, and helping foster parents stay resilient during difficult times. They provide practical advice on managing visits with biological families, advocating for a child's needs, and handling paperwork and meetings with caseworkers.

To request a mentor for yourself or to become a mentor for others, visit utahfostercare.org/foster-parent-resources/mentors

FOSTERING CONVERSATIONS PODCAST

Real and raw conversations about parenting for bio, foster, adoptive, or blended families to increase understanding of issues we all face. Hosted by Amy Smith, a foster adoptive parent. You can listen to episodes and receive training credit at utahfostercare.org/fostering-conversations-podcast

LENDING LIBRARY

Raise the Future offers a free lending library featuring children's books and titles about drug exposure, grief and trauma healing, mental illness, parenting advice, sexual abuse, and special-needs adoption. You can check out up to three titles at a time by mail and keep them for up to 6 weeks. Return postage is included with your order. To check out selections or place an order, call (801) 265-0444 or visit utahadopt.org/lending-library

FAMILY EVENTS

Appreciation events offer families a great way to get out, have fun together, and get to know other licensed families. Swim parties, skate parties, BBQs, bowling nights, and corn mazes are just a few of the free activities organized through your Cluster Support Group. Local and statewide events occur throughout the year. Watch your Foster Roster for the next one in your area, or search for your cluster at utahfostercare.org/foster-parent-resources/support-groups

SUPPORTING TEENS IN FOSTER CARE

We talk a lot about teens at Utah Foster Care—and with good reason. Half of all children in care are over age 10, so we're eager to find families willing to open their hearts to older children. Teens in care are literally running out of time—time to find a permanent family and receive the love and support they need to thrive as adults.

With added urgency come added supports. The State has an entire website dedicated to state supports for teens: dcfs.utah.gov/services/youth-services

MEDICAL AND ADOPTION RESOURCES

Health services, post-adoption subsidies, and post-secondary education grants are available. Medicaid covers medical, dental, and mental health services to age 18 (with some children qualifying for extended coverage if they qualify for DSPD). An adoption subsidy may be available based on the youth's needs. dcfs.utah.gov/services/adoption/

EDUCATION AND EMPLOYMENT

Federal Pell grants are available to pay college tuition and other expenses. Youth may apply for the Olene S. Walker Transition to Adult Living Scholarship (up to $5,000 for degree or certificate programs), Education Training Vouchers (ETV), and other grants at dcfs.utah.gov/services/youth-services/education-employment. Youth aged 16–25 can complete their GED requirement and receive job training at Utah Job Corps. clearfield.jobcorps.gov/

REIMBURSEMENTS AND RESOURCES

In addition to your monthly stipend, funds are available through both the State (via DCFS) and Utah Foster Care (UFC). Supplemental DCFS funds are contingent on legislative funding and are summarized in the table below. UFC funds are made available through private donations.

DCFS FUNDING

DCFS funding is requested through your caseworker or Resource Family Consultant (RFC). Receipts may be required for reimbursement. Copies of receipts are to be turned in with the payment form. Original receipts remain in the home-to-home book.

MILEAGE REIMBURSEMENT

Routine trips are not covered (for example, travel to the store, shopping center, a friend's house, school, or recreational activities). If transporting more than one child at the same time, mileage can only be submitted for one child.

You must document all reimbursable mileage claims on the appropriate Child & Family Services form that includes odometer readings, purpose of travel, and destination. Mileage claims are submitted monthly for reimbursement. All mileage claims and receipts must have a one-time payment form from DCFS submitted with them. These forms can be located online at dcfs.utah.gov/resources/records-request at the bottom under Provider-only payment forms or from your DCFS caseworker.

DCFS REIMBURSEMENT

See the DCFS Reimbursement table on the next page (page 9) for more details.

UTAH FOSTER CARE FUNDING

WISHING WELL

Private donors contribute to this fund, allowing children in foster care to participate in common childhood activities or purchase needed items not covered under state funding. If special needs funds through DCFS have been used or are not available, you, your caseworker, or the RFC may request up to $500 per child annually through the form on our website.

Wishing Well funds may be used for music, dance, or karate lessons; vacation expenses; team fees and equipment; or other great childhood activities. Teens may be interested in purchasing contacts, school rings, yearbooks, or formal wear for prom. Vacation requests are limited to $300 once in a lifetime. You may apply here: <https://utahfostercare.org/foster-parent-resources/wishing-well-fund/>

OTHER HELPS & RESOURCES

Donations: Books, blankets, quilts, school supplies, and backpacks are some of the donations made available to kids in care from the community. When available, donated items are distributed during Cluster meetings or appreciation events and through the Resource Sheds. Notices may also be posted on the regional Facebook group or in the Foster Roster.

Holiday Help: Generous donors and community service groups aid UFC staff in providing gifts and needed items for kids in care during the holiday season. Watch your Facebook group or personal email in the fall for details. utahfostercare.org/giving-tree/
